At Nutanix University, we offer training classes in the style you like at the pace you want—no matter how you learn. And you can learn from anywhere with our virtual instructor-led and online training offerings.

Instructor-Led Training

Instructor-led training (ILT) classes are equipped with hands-on labs and detailed instructions led by Nutanix experts to create an optimal learning environment. ILT provides the opportunity for Q&A, white-boarding, hands-on labs, and is available in-person or via virtual conferencing technology. Virtual instructor-led training (vILT) gives you the same experience as a standard instructor-led training class—but from the comfort of your own home or office.

Private Training

Private Training is the perfect choice when you need training for the whole team. We work with your schedule and bring the instructor, course materials, and hands-on labs to you. Whether we come to your location or create an exclusive virtual experience, this is a great way to get your whole team on the same page.

Online Training

Our self-paced online delivery method offers a fresh and engaging way of teaching you the information you need to succeed. These classes provide a mix of interactive content so you can learn, watch, and practice all at your own pace. Visit the Nutanix University learning platform where you'll find learning plans that track your progress and deliver interactive training courses, and much more.

Facilitated Labs

Apply your knowledge while building your skills and confidence in our safe, real-world environment. During this one-day course, you'll run through all of the ILT course labs and will have an expert instructor available to assist along the way. Facilitated Labs are a great way to get more practice and are currently available for two of our popular courses: Nutanix Hybrid Cloud Fundamentals (NHCF) and Enterprise Cloud Administration (ECA).
